WOMAN AND FASHION

Simple and Stylish.

This simple, stylish suit is of light-weight cloth, a soft gray and dark blue mixture, the threefold stitched seams corded with blue silk, the design done in blue silk Persian cord.

The smart cape is a new Parisian mode, worn over a blouse of the cloth.

WOOLTEX SPRING SUIT.

with leg o' mutton sleeves, the long cuff buttoning to the elbow.

The cape has a plastron front, with revers and collar of blue silk, the deep fitted girle being of the same, as also the smart little tie.

Shiny shoes and gray stockings are correct with this suit.

For Stout Women.

Most large women think it best to stick closely to black, and while this is wise judgment they must not forget that there is black and black. A shiny, lustrous black, such as satin, messaline and the rest (and in woolen goods mohair), is just as enlarging in effect as light colors.

Crepe de chene, broadcloth of a dull finish, wool crepes and materials of a like nature are the only ones that reduce the apparent size. In fact, these goods, even in light colors, will not make one look any larger than a black that is shiny and reflects the light.

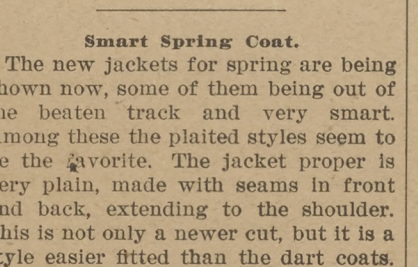

The keynote of the materials used by stout women must be flatness, in weave as well as color. That is the real secret of dressing to appear small.

Summer Shirt Waists.

The summer shirt waist proper is to revert to its original form—that is, it will be made on severer lines than has been the custom in the last few years. For one thing, it will not have the pouch front. Other differences noted are in the sleeve, which is slightly full, raised at the top and finished with a narrow starched cuff. The lines of the waist depend wholly on the figure it is to fit. Some waists have a small yoke, with the material hanging from it in narrow side or box plaits. Others are gathered with moderate fullness into the collar band. As for stuffs, there is to be a return to the hair stripes or fine checks and perhaps dots, although stripes and fine checks come first.

Smart Spring Coat.

The new jackets for spring are being shown now, some of them being out of the beaten track and very smart. Among these the plaited styles seem to be the favorite. The jacket proper is very plain, made with seams in front and back, extending to the shoulder. This is not only a newer cut, but it is a style easier fitted than the dart coats.

NORFOLK JACKET.

After the coat is fitted one has only to apply the plait over the seam, and the garment is practically finished. The collar may or may not be used, just as one desires. The sleeve is finished with a box plait also, and the whole makeup of the coat is generally good. Any woman can make such a coat as this, and it will be a good fitting one too.

How to Wear Your Hat.

"Small hats worn well forward" comes the whisper of spring styles wafted across the Atlantic. The hats designed for the opening season at Nice and Cannes are so made and so worn, and they may with safety be taken as foreshadows of spring fashions in millinery. Beside this modest style of hat the excessively broad lines, which were so much in vogue only a short time ago, begin to look greatly exaggerated.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Advance of the Telephone.

As far back as 1867 one Robert Hooke of London proclaimed the principle of the telephone. By means of a wire he transmitted sound over considerable distances. A century and a half later, in 1821, the word "telephone" was first used, being applied to Wheatstone's apparatus, by which sound was transmitted through wooden rods.

The first patents for the Bell telephone were taken out in 1876. Long distance telephoning is twenty years old this year.

At the beginning of 1904 there were 8,779,517 telephones under rental in the United States. The number of messages in a year passes beyond 3,000,000,000. A current news item predicts telephonic communication in the near future between New York and San Francisco.

With a continent crossed by the speech carrying circuit, there remains the problem of transoceanic communication by telephone. It is not to be doubted that a solution will come. The rapidity of telephone development, after its first start, as indicated in the dates given above, seems to promise that the crowning achievement in long distance communication by voice may not be far in the future.

Old Age in Navy Officers.

The youngest rear admiral in the United States navy is older than Admiral Togo. The four Japanese vice admirals are all younger than the youngest of our captains. The Japanese rear admirals average age forty-nine, captains age forty-four and two-thirds and commanders forty and two-thirds. The average age of our captains (fifty-seven and a half) is thirteen years beyond that of the Japanese captains, nine years beyond that of the English and German captains and seven years beyond that of the Russian captains. The youngest English captain is aged thirty-three, is twenty years younger than our youngest, and Japan has deemed it wise to intrust her battleships to men of age thirty-six. The average English and German captain is scarcely older than our junior grade captain (commanders), and our youngest commander when he reached his rank was older than the average Japanese captain. If our youngest captain were in the Japanese navy he would have been retired for age some time ago.—Independent.

Uncle Sam's Shop.

Uncle Sam sold during the year 1904, according to figures given out from Washington, goods worth $1,451,355,045. He bought goods worth $1,035,900,197 and used the balance to pay off debts and the interest on his mortgaged.

It was the first year when Uncle Sam has ever made billion dollar purchases. Ten years earlier he spent only $676,000,000, last year $965,000,000. However, Uncle Sam doesn't feel poor. He broke another record by exporting for the first time over $500,000,000 worth of manufactured goods.

In ten years the excess of exports over imports—sales over purchases—has been over $4,000,000,000. Sales have been upon an average more than 50 per cent greater than purchases. Last year and in 1902 the excess of sales was only 40 per cent.

But that isn't much to worry about. In the three years 1893, 1894 and 1895 the excess of sales was only 12 per cent, and we have done fairly well since.

The Antiamputation Japs.

During the present war the Japanese have followed the new rule generally of not amputating shattered limbs on the fields of battle, but of putting a plaster of paris dressing on them. So far out of the wounded Russians only one arm has been amputated, and in that case the arm had to be removed in consequence of trouble supervening. In all cases the bones have healed well. It is clear that the gunshot wounds from the modern infantry rifle are less dangerous to life than they were in former days. Wounds received in the lungs or stomach heal often without any surgical treatment or operation. All pieces of shot or shrapnel taken from wounded men are sent to Tokyo, where they are being preserved, as are also all other "preparations" resulting from the surgical treatment of the wounded.—London Globe.

Artificial Rain.

Sir Oliver Lodge's fog dispelling apparatus might be useful in the semi-arid plains east of the Rocky mountains and in all sections of the United States during times of drought. Electricity at the high voltage of 250,000 is sent lightning-like through the air. A succession of these discharges condenses the moisture in the atmosphere, with a clearing effect similar to that produced by lightning.

Although the object of the apparatus in England is to dissipate fog, analogous reasoning would point to its value as a rain producer. The fog is driven away by being turned into rain. The same electrical process should produce rain wherever there is a fair amount of moisture in the atmosphere.

Bagpipes Again in Favor.

That terrible instrument, the bagpipes, is winning favor in certain circles. It is even whispered that there is a fair royal piper, and that the daughters of Scottish nobles are rapidly becoming proficient in the art of skirling the pipes is the hapless experience of many visitors to the north. There are those who find the bagpipes trying at the best of times, but if they are to be placed in the hands of the amateur will London border the world living?—London World.

"Papa," said the son of Charles A. Edwards, secretary of the Democratic congressional committee, "why am I a Democrat?"

"Who wants to know?" asked Mr. Edwards suspiciously.

"The teacher," the boy replied.

"Well," said Mr. Edwards, "you tell the teacher you are a Democrat because you possess the God given faculty, after you have been rolled in the dust and kicked and cuffed, of rising and declaring to the world, 'Well, we lost this time, but we will win in 1908.'"

LET'S ACT

The last legislature appropriated $150,000 for the purchase of an experimental farm. Already dozens of places in the state have begun to set forth their claims for preference. After all is said, the fact remains the same that for favorable climatic conditions, rich and varied soil, an abundance of pure water, and ample transportation facilities, proximity to San Francisco, there is no place in this great state that equals good old Sonoma Valley. If the site is awarded on points denoting special adaptability for an experimental horticultural plant, we confidently believe that Sonoma Valley will be selected.

But we cannot expect to hide our candle under a bushel and win. It behooves us to be up and doing, and to present our claims and prove our merits. Many a worthy cause is lost for want of action. Let us get busy at once. Sonoma's Grange and Board of Trade and enterprising citizens generally should take up this question at once.

The Wednesday morning's Press Democrat speaks favorably of the old Carriage place near El Verano. This is certainly one of the best ranches for the purpose to be found anywhere. L. L. Lewis is the present owner and it is said that the favorable climate and well-nigh inexhaustible supply of water on the place, and variety of soils of this place, would make it an ideal experimental farm.

A LIVE QUESTION

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Supervisors will be held next week, when the matter will come up of advertising for sale the franchise to construct and operate an electric railroad from Sonoma to Santa Rosa. The people of Sonoma Valley are especially anxious that the Board, when they grant the franchise, if they do, to make the time limit to commence work and to finish construction as short as possible.

It is perfectly plain to every thinking person that if promoters are really in earnest about building a road they will not ask for a greater length of time than is necessary to complete the road, barring ordinary and unavoidable delays. If they do, the request should not be granted. The people of Sonoma Valley want the road and if Mr. O. C. Baldwin and his backers do not intend to build the road they should be made to give way to some enterprising people who will. We want no trifling or blocking tactics.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

At the next important regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, two very important questions serious ly affecting the future welfare of our growing city will come up for consideration and it is to be hoped, some decisive action will be taken.

Whether we shall refuse to keep up in the march of progress by raising money, by some means, right away, for public improvements or will be forced to assume the old 49 gait and lose the good of Sonoma's present boom, is the question, the all important one, that must be decided. Sonoma's future is in the hands of the present Board of Trustees. What will they do with it? Everybody knows that a majority of our people favor the issue of bonds to raise the money for necessary public improvements. Others favor a special tax. Nobody favors standing still or going backward. But what will the Trustees do? Everybody interested in the city's welfare is eagerly awaiting the action of the Board and will not be satisfied with inaction.

The other question is that of limiting the number of saloon license granted in this city. The question was laid over from the last meeting. It is said that another and larger petition favoring the limiting will be presented at the meeting.

Chief of Police Wittman of San Francisco has been dismissed from office for neglect and failure to do his duty. There is some hope for San Francisco yet to have a semblance at least to an honest government.

The Czar of Russia is said to be willing to make peace with the victorious Japanese but objects to paying any indemnity.

Beware of people who never have a good word to say for anybody. If you have such for friends, drop them quick. Such creatures are unfit to associate with respectable people. They are trouble makers, back stabbers and should be treated as unjail character assassins. Don't fool yourself, supposed friend, people who always criticize every one else before you, give you many a stab when your back is turned. The everlasting character gossip is the most despicable criminal abroad and causes more trouble and does more harm in this world than any murderer or swindler that ever lived.

John Hay, Secretary of State in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, has resigned, owing to ill health. His successor has not as yet been chosen.

A. M. Hardman has been quite ill the past week, but we are glad to note that he is now improving.

Mr. Reid of Sonoma occupied the pulpit at the Congregational Church last Sunday.

There is one thing sure about a fuss—it does not do any good to talk it over.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to a conditional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

It Saved His Leg.
 P. A. Danforth of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by Shoults & Co., Druggist, Sonoma, Cal.

What a disagreeable world this would be if people were perfectly candid.

During November and December, 1903, one fifth of the deaths in New York and Chicago were from pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents pneumonia, so do not take any chances on cold wearing away when Foley's Honey and Tar will cure you quickly and prevent serious results.

Rumor Denied

Speaking of the rumored negotiations of President Foster for the purchase of Boyes' Hot Springs, Mr. Francis, the manager, desires to say there has been no disposition on the part of the corporation to dispose of the springs. No negotiations were ever entered into at all.

Many improvements are contemplated having in view greater accommodations for the increasing patronage.

More Riots

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Shoults & Co. Druggist.

THE GRAND JURY

Make Many Recommendations In Report Filed Saturday

The Grand Jury of Sonoma County filed its report on Saturday last, and adjourned.

The report states that all the county officials have performed their duties properly and have kept a correct account of the business in their respective offices. One exception is noted in the case of Co. Recorder Nagle, who, the jury believes, "should be censured for neglect of duty."

The report recommends that the county building be immediately repaired and that a new brick county hospital be built and a modern system of heating and lighting be installed therein.

A change in the law governing road houses was suggested, asking that a bond of $500 be required each road house keeper and that he get 8 out of 12 of his nearest permanent neighbors to sign a petition for a license.

The Board of Supervisors are commended for appropriating $800 towards advertising the county.

One indictment was returned, manslaughter was charged.

BAD RAILROAD WRECK.

Just after we had gone to press last week, we heard of a bad wreck on the S. P. about a mile north of El Verano.

The regular afternoon freight train from Santa Rosa, was derailed, three cars and a caboose leaving the track. Two cars were damaged beyond repair and over 100 yards of track was badly torn and twisted.

Fortunately no lives were lost, and no one was injured, but Conductor Pullman and his brakeman had a very narrow escape. They were in the caboose when it turned over on its side after bumping along the track for a considerable distance.

The accident was caused from a broken flange on a wheel of a car loaded with basal blocks.

It was a pretty bad mixup and the subsequent trains were delayed for a day or so after.

A new track was built around the torn up portion to allow the trains to pass until the main track could be repaired. This work was finished on Saturday.

RACES! RACES!

The Sonoma Driving Club track on 1st St. West is now in fine condition, better than it has ever been before.

Local horses are being worked on the track, preparing for the Spring Race Meet.

A large number of races are contemplated and an effort will be made to give bigger purses for the events. The next race meet will be on May 1, or if the weather is unfavorable on May 30.

Dist. Deputy Grand Matron.

Mrs. Alden Anderson, wife of the Lieutenant Governor, will pay Valley of the Moon Chapter, O.E.S., an official visit, on April 13. The work will be exemplified and an elaborate banquet will be served.

A Correction

The El Verano correspondent of the Expositor made a slight mistake in a recent issue in saying that "Roxey Murphy" was being groomed for the next race meet.

It is her owner, A. W. Weaver, the El Verano blacksmith, who is grooming to shoe the race horses. The horse he shoes always wins. See? Mr. Weaver is an expert at horseshoeing. Ask his hundreds of satisfied customers.

Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by Shultz & Co. Druggist. Price 50c and 1.00. Trial bottles free.

Poultry Column

Novel Exterminator For Mites

A correspondent of the Farmers' Voice gives the following remedy for mites.

"If any of your poultry raisers are bothered with mites that infest the poultry houses here is a simple and sure remedy. Take 25 cents worth of mercury or what most of us call quicksilver, place it in a large mouthed bottle (a mustard bottle will do), and tie a string around the neck of the bottle, so you can hang it to the ceiling or rafters of the poultry house. Leave it uncorked, and your trouble with mites will be at an end.

Another Cure For Roup

A correspondent of the Farmers' Voice gives the following advice to those who have ropy chickens:

Get all sick fowls in the house, and after they are at rest on the roost, take a kettle or pan, shovel in two or three quarts of live coals from the stove. Place it under the fowls, and pour on one ounce of crude carbolic acid. Come out and close the door so as to retain the fumes in the poultry house for ten or fifteen minutes, and in two or three days repeat the treatment. After three or four treatments the roup will disappear, and your fowls will thrive nicely after their smudging.

Poultry Notes

Cut clover is an indispensable article of diet. All kinds of vegetables fill a place in the hen's dieting, but they can hardly be said to be a substitute for cut clover.

Never give sulphur to poultry on a rainy day.

Put chicks on a cracked wheat diet when three weeks old.

Old ducks never get lice. The oily nature of their feathering prevents this.

For scaly legs in fowls an ointment made of sulphur and coal oil is good.

Each breed possesses some characteristic dominant trait in which it exists.

Women's Kidneys.

Women are more often afflicted with kidney disorders than men, but attribute the symptoms to diseases peculiar to their sex, while in reality the kidneys are deranged. Nervousness, headache, puffiness of the face, dark circles under the eyes, pain in the back, are signs of kidney trouble that must not be ignored, or a serious malady will result. Foley's Kidney Cure has restored the health of thousands of weak, nervous, brooding women. It stops irregularities and strengthens the urinary organs. It purifies the blood and benefits the whole system. Sold by L. S. Simmons Druggist.

When men talk together, it is of prices at which things can be sold. Women talk of prices at which things can be bought.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs. "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. Sold by L. S. Simmons Druggist.

The sentiment seems to be always in favor of abusing the man who objects to cost when it comes to funerals or weddings.

Invaluable for Rheumatism. I have been suffering for the past few years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction, and tended to alleviate my pains. March 24th, 1902, John C. Degnan, Kinsman, Ills. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons, Druggist, Sonoma, Cal.

If your case is curable they will treat you; if incurable, they will give such advice as to be beneficial to you.

They treat deafness with an entirely new method. Hearing restored to many at once. Catarrh in all its varied forms cured so that it will never return by breaking up the cold-catching tendency by ELECTRICAL INDUCTION of medicine.

Men suffering from General Nervousness, Weakness, Lost Memory, Strength, Weak Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatic Pains, Lumbago, Sciatic, Torpid Liver, Indigestion and Dyspepsia here can find a cure that permanently restores them to their original strength and manhood without loading their stomach with poisonous medicine.

Stories Of the Stage Folk
PETER F. DAILEY is a comedian who does not have to go far to find jokes. They are always coming his way. Not long ago he attended a matinee performance of one of the dramatic productions that did not "score a hit," as the critics say. On coming out of the theater he was accosted by a friend. "Been to the show, Peter? How was it?"
"Oh, fair."
"Big audience?"
"No, they weren't big; I could kick the three of 'em."
Mr. Dailey sprang a joke in San Francisco while ago and in writing about it to a friend in New York explained it as follows:
"One of the popular table waters here is Bartlett water. Everybody knows about it, so I got a laugh by asking if two men who drink Bartlett water will be a Bartlett pear."
When the friend had thought the joke over and digested it he sent the following telegram to Mr. Dailey: "Your pear joke is a peach."

Mr. John Drew, who is in the forefront of his profession, was recently interviewed. After some conversation relative to his liking for the name part in "The Duke of Killcrankie" the conversation proceeded thus:
"Have you any ambition in your profession that you have not yet achieved?"
For the moment Mr. Drew appeared to be amused at the question.
"That is certainly invidious," he remarked after a brief pause.
"Undoubtedly, but have you?"
After carefully thinking the matter over Mr. Drew said:
"Yes, I think I have."
"What is it?"
"To be a better actor."

Miss Emma Carus is a singer whose voice has more than once turned the heads of her auditors. When she started out on the stage she sang at a great concert one night and struck the heart of a foreign count who chanced to be in the audience. Several years later she sang in the presence of a Nashville young man, who fell in love with her at sight, or on hearing her voice. He afterward committed suicide "all for love of her."
Immediately after this incident another remarkable adventure befell Miss Carus. Like the preceding trouble, this, too, was brought about by the voice which has proved such a potent factor in turning men's heads ever since the singer was a child.

This time it was John L. Sullivan, who heard Miss Carus sing. He saw her after her performance and said in his most appealing tones:
"Say, you made a hit wid me. Will you marry me?"
This laconic proposal appealed to the humorous side of Miss Carus' nature, and she told the fighter that she could only be a sister to him. He was persistent, however, and it was many months before John was convinced that his case was hopeless.

Marie Dressler, who has recently made a triumph at the Stage, "By Trottars" was meant sheep's feet, which sold for a sixpence and which many of the workmen in the audience ate while waiting for the performance to begin. I had gone as far as "The false"—I never finished. The awfulness of the meaning in that sign dawned upon me. My jaw dropped. No words came from my paralyzed throat. My knees rattled together, and my eyes remained fixed in a glassy stare upon the fatal sign.
"The leader of the orchestra, seeing my predicament, had his men to play louder, but all to no purpose. A moment of perspiring agony ensued, when the voice of the stage manager called from the wings, 'Come off at once!' Mechanically I obeyed, and not a moment too soon, for a shower of bones fell from the gallery upon the spot where I had been standing a moment before and then followed a roar of 'Boo!' like the enraged growls of some hundred wild animals.
"You got off just in time," said the manager. "Now, quick, jump into this cab. You can change your costume on your way home."

Safer Where He Was.
The man who had been arrested for having eight wives was awakened by a fellow prisoner, who hoarsely whispered:
"Come on, sport. We've got some false keys and unlocked the cell doors, and we're all going to escape."
"Look here," said the octagunist desperately, "unless you promise me that when you all get out of the jail you will lock the doors carefully again I'll raise a racket and expose your project."
"Why, what's wrong? Don't you want to escape?"
"Escape! You lock me in here and go on about your business. Don't you know these steel bars are all that separate me from my eight wives?"

The Birds Intervene.
"You know," said the Rev. Mr. Goodman, "the Bible assures us that whatever we sow shall we reap."
"Which proves?" replied Subbubs, "that the Bible isn't infallible. Suppose you sow garden seeds and your neighbor keeps chickens?"—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Frank Pixley, the dashing young wife of the librettist, is a Canadian, so doesn't make the effort of saying "elevator."
In the rush hour at a department store she found herself wedged in a crowd.
"Will you please tell me where the lift is?" she gasped to a florid, grinning face behind her.
"Sure, miss," and a huge hand struggled upward and swept the wall space grandly. "This is the right, and that's the lift."

Aubrey Bonicault, who is a son of the late actor and playwright, Dion Bonicault, is living up to the family name by writing plays and acting too. He has a great admiration for his father's genius and delights in reminiscences about his life.
"I remember well," he says, "sitting with my father in the Adams House in Boston and hearing him discuss with Mr. Henry Guy Carleton his methods of constructing a drama. It sounded to me then like a recipe from a cook book—the formula of dispensing a prescription. I was young and did not realize as I do now its precision, its correctness and its unerring method. 'First take your story and cut it into climaxes of your acts. Cut your acts into situations. Cut your situations into scenes. Say who the scenes are by, what transpires between your characters, and serve hot or to be well shaken before taking.' This was his recipe and his elixir for a drama."

Feed Fear, who plays Hadji, the private secretary in "Sultan of Sulu," is responsible for the following:
"I started out in the rain one day last summer, and I had no umbrella. I worried along debating whether to invest in one or not, but was deterred by the thought that I already had three umbrellas kicking about somewhere. When I got on Broadway spied a man I presumed to be Walter Lawrence, our stage manager, who was carrying a silk umbrella. 'It's mine now,' he added fondly as he gazed at the work of art he held in his hand. 'As soon as I saw the man I presumed to be Lawrence I was so overjoyed that I rushed on him from the rear and, slapping him hard on the back, exclaimed, 'Look here, old man; give me that umbrella.' 'The man turned, and, to my amazement, I discovered that he was not Lawrence, but some one I had never seen before. I was covered with confusion and was about to apologize when I observed that he was even more confused than I. He hastily closed the umbrella and pressed it into my hand, with the remark: 'I beg pardon, I didn't know it was yours,' and vanished around the corner, leaving me standing in open mouthed astonishment."

Arthur Dunn of "The Runaways" is said to have rather a sharp wit. Some days ago he purchased a book from a persistent agent who in order to get rid of the man. While the check was being written the agent, feeling it incumbent upon him to make conversation, remarked, "I hear Jefferson de Angellis was robbed last week." "That so?" returned Mr. Dunn without looking up. "What did you sell him?"

William Norris, the comedian and character actor, who has recently created many a laugh in "Babes in Toyland," is a very versatile performer, but his first stage appearance in a London music hall was not very encouraging. It was at the hour when amateurs were tried. Mr. Norris relates:
"I had a vague impression of a vast sea of heads confronting me, and then I started in to sing 'The Falsest Girl You Ever Came Anigh.' I had reached the refrain, and a few moments more would have put me at my ease and my eyes remained fixed in a glassy stare upon the fatal sign."

by an immense sign, ten or fifteen feet square, and I read in big black letters:
"Gentlemen! Please Not Throw Troats' Bones at Actors on the Stage."
"By Trottars" was meant sheep's feet, which sold for a sixpence and which many of the workmen in the audience ate while waiting for the performance to begin. I had gone as far as "The false"—I never finished. The awfulness of the meaning in that sign dawned upon me. My jaw dropped. No words came from my paralyzed throat. My knees rattled together, and my eyes remained fixed in a glassy stare upon the fatal sign.

There are a number of other valuable freak stamps, but the errors of the bureau of engraving and printing have been remarkably few, considering the immense number of sheets of stamps turned out every year. Each sheet after being printed passes through a dozen or more hands before it is ready for the stock vault, and inspectors and counters are always on the lookout for errors in printing—Kansas City Star.

A Browning's Letter.
One of Browning's letters is a reply to a young poet who wrote asking Browning's advice about publishing a volume of poems. The reply, in part, is as follows and may serve a useful purpose to young poets of today as well as of the past.
"It is a sound, steady, and almost to me that I should be imagined of authority in this kind, I who for years could not get a line printed except at my own expense, and I began half a century ago or more."

Wax Matches.
Wax matches, so called, are made by drawing strands of fine cotton thread, twenty or thirty at a time, through melted stearin, with a small admixture of paraffin. The wax hardens quickly upon the threads, and the long tapers thus produced are smoothed and rounded by pulling them through iron plates perforated with holes of the desired size. Finally the tapers are cut into match lengths and tipped.

SOME FREAK STAMPS

ERRORS THAT CAUSE PHILATELISTS TO JUMP FOR JOY.

The Craze Among Collectors For the Possession of Samples of Blunders Made by Uncle Sam's Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

About the only freaks of great value manufactured by the government are misprinted postage stamps, the value of one of these sometimes running up into the thousands. There is nothing more dear to the collector than these errors in printing, and, too, there is nothing which causes a tornado of trouble quicker in the bureau of engraving and printing. An error is generally a costly thing in this department. It means that whoever is responsible for the mistake must get out and hunt another job. The work is too important to permit of carelessness. An error produces a freak stamp, but it also produces a vacancy, often more, in the ranks of the employees of the department. But the collector, the philatelist, is happy, for he gets a prize of the first water.

Any and every thing in the way of a stamp which varies a hair's breadth from the correct design, is a freak, and there is always a heated race by the stamp fends to secure one of these. Usually these errors, and they are not made often, are detected before many of the stamps are put in circulation, and when only a few get out the collectors are ready to pay fancy prices for one of the prizes. Some few collectors hoard under the impression that "every man has his price," and the sum of $20,000 was offered the head of the bureau a few years ago if he would have issued a half dozen sheets of two cent errors. Of course no consideration whatever was given to the proposition, and the get rich quick philatelist saw his plans miscarry.

Some very valuable freak stamps were issued in 1899, when a series of stamps was issued in colors. The series comprised denominations from 1 cent to 90 cents. The 15, 24, 30 and 90 cents were printed in two colors. On these the central picture was printed inverted, and the error was detected. Today any of these freaks will bring from $500 to $800 each.

The freak two cent pan-American series of stamps which turned up in Buffalo, N. Y., in the year of the Ralston City exposition, 1901, are now rated at $55 each. Only a few of these got in circulation before it was discovered that the railroad train in the center of the stamp was upside down. It is likely that thousands would have been sold had not a gentleman who had purchased ten stamps discovered the error and forthwith wrote the bureau of engraving and printing notifying the officers. He doubtless thought he was doing a good service for the government, and doubtless he was, but the stamp collectors denounce him as a chump of the rankest type. The gentleman gave away several of the stamps he had bought. While a large number of the stamps with the inverted train of cars were sold before the error was detected, there are only six of these freaks which can be accounted for, the other stamps having perhaps served their purpose without being discovered as belonging to the valuable freak family. It is altogether reasonable to suppose that the stamps were affixed to letters and the envelopes destroyed. If any sheet of error stamps other than that sent to the Buffalo office was ever sent out, the fact has never been known at the bureau, and it is not likely that the market will ever be glutted with this freak stamp.

During the winter of 1890 a sheet of the ordinary one cent stamps, with the word "Guam" printed across the face, slipped through with "Guam" upside down. These stamps were printed for the use of the island, and collectors have searched far and near for them. Only a few have been secured by the collectors, and they bring stiff prices. The people of Guam know but little about the value set on such freaks by the stamp collectors.

Back in the seventies, when the government used its own distinctive set of stamps for the several departments, an error was made by the bank note company which then held the contract for making the stamps. The regular color adopted by the navy department was blue. A sheet of the two cent denomination was printed in green, and the freak has now a market value of about $45 each. The genuine, in blue, is worth twenty times its face value.

One collector was fortunate enough to corner the market by getting possession of a sheet of four cent stamps of the Columbian series which was printed by mistake in steel blue when his right color should have been ultramarine blue. He got it at its face value, and when he wanted to dispose of one he can readily get $35.

There are a number of other valuable freak stamps, but the errors of the bureau of engraving and printing have been remarkably few, considering the immense number of sheets of stamps turned out every year. Each sheet after being printed passes through a dozen or more hands before it is ready for the stock vault, and inspectors and counters are always on the lookout for errors in printing—Kansas City Star.
